

Ryan Stark Lilienthal Law Offices, LLC is a firm concentrating in immigration and nationality law. Our clients include corporations with business immigration needs, as well as individuals seeking temporary and permanent status in the United States. In the rapidly changing world of immigration law, we pride ourselves as a law practice that stays on top of new developments, and is responsive and accessible to clients.

Our business clients range from multinational corporations with over 1,000 employees to small and mid-size community businesses. These clients include information technology, management consulting, accounting, architecture, engineering, manufacturing and payroll service companies. In addition, we represent numerous educational and public institutions, such as colleges and universities, public school districts, and municipalities.

Our firm serves individual clients and families, who seek legal status based on employment opportunities or family sponsorship. We also represent asylum or other special relief applicants, who seek protection in the United States and have cases pending before the immigration court, Board of Immigration Appeals, or federal
